

HORIZONS 2030

Equality at the Centre of Sustainable Development

During its 36th session, ECLAC aims to spur progressive structural change in Latin America and the Caribbean based on the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and its 17 Goals.

The productive structure must be changed in order to:

Increase the participation of knowledge- and innovation-intensive sectors.

Guarantee inclusive economic growth and the creation of jobs with rights.

Protect the environment by fighting the negative effects of climate change.

For this to happen, new institutions and political coalitions are needed

AT A GLOBAL LEVEL

Governance for the creation of global public goods and coordination of fiscal policies to consolidate the world's economic recovery and sustain employment.

AT A REGIONAL LEVEL

Consolidate regional contributions based on a stronger financial security network, greater productive and trade integration and the creation of a single digital market.

AT A NACIONAL LEVEL

Make a big environmental push that redefines macroeconomic policy, broadens social protection for equality and implements environment-centered industrial policies.
