

Lecture series as part of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean

Working for a productive, inclusive and sustainable future

We have the honour to invite you to the series of lectures by distinguished scholars to be held as part of the commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of ECLAC

Raúl Prebisch Conference Room, ECLAC (Santiago)

2023

July

24 Arancha González, Dean of the Paris School of International Affairs (PSIA) of the Paris Institute of Political Studies (Sciences Po)

August

18 José Antonio Ocampo, Professor, School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA), Columbia University

September

4 Aloizio Mercadante, President of the National Bank for Economic and Social Development (BNDES) of Brazil

28 Ricardo Hausmann, Professor at Harvard Kennedy School and founder and Director of Harvard's Growth Lab

October

25 Winston Dookeran, Secretary-General, EUCLID University

November

14 Adela Cortina, Professor of Ethics and Political Philosophy at the University of Valencia

24 Santiago Levy, Non-resident Senior Fellow, Brookings Institution

2024

January

22 Daniel Innerarity, Political and Social Philosophy Research Professor at the Basque Foundation for Science (Ikerbasque), University of the Basque Country, Head of the Institute for Democratic Governance, and Professor of Artificial Intelligence and Democracy at the European University Institute, Florence

March

18 Lant Pritchett, Director of Research on Improving Systems of Education (RISE), Blavatnik School of Government, University of Oxford

